What our clients say

„With the project RECLAIM, we have managed to develop an entirely new generation of friction welding machines that is more than capable of meeting the future demands of the Industrial Internet of Things. The project received € 13 million in EU funding. Thanks to the excellent support provided by Steinbeis Europa Zentrum, we have achieved groundbreaking results in this project. As a partner, Steinbeis was paving the way not only in the proposal process, but also in the development of solutions and innovations on the way to a successful market entry.“
